

Spirits of Division

How do people agree to disagree and stay in the same family of humanity?

“We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities of powers and spiritual wickedness in the high places.” For the abusive spirits that live in darkness are always trying to blot out the light of God’s Holy Spirit of love to prevent God’s affections from reaching us. God says in His word, “If you search for me with all your heart you will find me.” Persevere like a sperm looking to fertilize an egg till creation is sparked by light. Then when the veil of darkness is pierced through, we are given a glorious choice to remain in the light through the flesh and blood New Covenant of Jesus Christ and experience God intimately.

In wrestling spiritual wickedness, I have discovered that the demons know and twist scripture to make them sound like there is life in them alone. In fact, they were meant to be more than a guide or a place to camp out with as there is more than only them as a source of fellowship with God. “For if all the books were to be written about everything the Lord said and did, the world itself could not contain them.” As a springboard through the essence of His door, scripture verses are not meant to pen us like animals with limitation, but to practice an intimate relationship with God that we could better know and understand Him. My advice is to remain teachable, as God is alive within living things that continue to grow or you will become penned up and stagnate, which will create a staleness that you'll want to escape from. The real God is always fresh, new, and offers a vibrant existence as the Scripture says, "Taste and see that the Lord is good." This is where we go beyond the salvation of being delivered from darkness and enter into the depth of God's mysteries, which only intimacy with God can reveal.

What is actually taking place in the minds of people that surround us? I have discovered that all thoughts are spiritual and leave us with the choice of ultimately being led to take root in time or eternity. Time is a prison with a death sentence on it in its wave of motion while we pass through in the testing ground of the length of the breadth within it. For when time ends, the essence of our beings of elements are either used to be transferred or stored. Energy used for further creation is broken down and transferred when we miss God's love. This is where new elements are formed as they come into formation. They emanate from our souls towards eternal damnation by rejecting the Holy Spirit's guidance or we know God in eternal life "intimately" by becoming a part of the process of creation ourselves. God knew us before we were conceived in our mother's womb," and "Though you make your bed in hell, low I am there." There is only one way that it is possible for God to keep track of us within this picture. For as He is omnipresent, He must take a piece of the element of Himself and apply it to whatever He creates and yet, being the Father of all spirits, He exists separately outside His creation at the same time. In Him, through Him, by Him, within the unity of the Holy Spirit, we live and breathe and move and have our being now and forever. Jesus said, "Does not the scriptures say that you are gods?" The nature of our God is to create and this is made manifest within the inside essence of the nature of our beings to create as well. Therefore, spiritual division occurs when we try to create things for our creature selves to have things revolve around our beings rather than glorify the Creator who created us.

Time is a wave that contains spirits that keep us in dark motion as we age while riding on its forward progression, without reflection, like winds upon the water until stilled into eternity. It must be burnt away for it to melt into the brilliance of God's light. "Be still and know that I am God," is a verse from the Bible that indicates that we need to come out of motion, experience the discomfort of friction until heat gives way to burning flames that eventually produce light. "Jesus Christ said that He is the light and the life of all men," and He alone has led the way by His seed to bear a first "Eternal Life" fruit that reproduces after its own kind.

"He leads me beside the still waters, He restores my soul." "For now we look through a mirror darkly, but one day I shall know Him as He is for I shall see Him face to face."
