

True Light

We know how to love because God first loved us in an established pattern, even before time began, and then later on through the entry gate of the Messiah Himself. Now, how do we respond to God's love and show Him gratitude? Do we take the fact that we were lost without understanding till He lovingly came after us for granted? For with the mercy and love of His own flesh and blood, He comes after us. Now, how do we acknowledge His love in order to love Him back?

When calling out to God to know Him, He draws and guides us out of the darkness of sin, for He sent His Holy Spirit to rescue us from a separation of where we went missing His presence of true love. Now, in gratitude, a relationship can be contained by the truth of Him within.

God's Spirit leads and guides to join Him in the bond of an inner circle of true love. For only by the purity of truth does He guide by light to meet with Him in love. Brilliance sparking forth between Him and His regenerative Son's living blood reveals that we are heading in the right direction. Meet God here and you shall always receive the inner embrace of His hug.

This is where we trust to trade in those things that have come in between us and the Lord. All dissatisfaction leaves us when what we thought we needed to survive is examined and surrendered for more completion in Him. For while “Godliness with contentment is great gain,” there is no greater than the joy being one with God’s love.

What does “We are to be rooted and grounded in the love of God,” mean? For as, “The deep calls unto the deep,” while “Be still and know that I Am God” is being implemented, I have discovered the embrace of His inner hug to craft and graft me into being with Him.

Eternal moments with my Creator now become deeper in love. I respond by slowing my pace to receive Him, and embrace Him back, in the light of the truth that I see in the love of my heart where it joins with my mind.

By accepting the plan of God’s New Covenant, we are reunited with Him in love as His Kingdom comes. Now when spiritually separated from the world, we can join Him in doing His will on earth as it is in heaven. This brings a mature understanding while being established in Him.

He welcomingly permeates me with the essence of the elements of His present being, which transforms and renews my thoughts. Now, training me to focus on Him and love Him back without a disconnect by the way of His Messiah, I have an example of how to follow and meet Him while embracing our shalom together. For the moment we enter stillness with God in covenant, the roots of our altered nature become more like Himself as we enter deeply into relations with Him. Our being grafted to Him yearns for His light to join us to draw more love from Him in oneness. Now caused to grow commingled with Him in restoration, we inwardly heal intertwined to return to the life of His original vine.

God not only came to give us an example of how to follow Him, but a gracious plan on how He would restore us if we would humble ourselves and acknowledge our wound called selfish pride.

Punched spiritually by Satan's "Great Deception" to get the first man, Adam, to enter into pride, through him, we have been spiritually cut away from God's presence in our souls unto death. Adam has cut off all of humanity by altering the pattern of how to love God back.

All of our psyches have been enmeshed with darkness, which has clouded God's loving light. Now after receiving Adam's blow against humanity, which is called original sin, we all remain in darkness, which has caused an experience of separation from the true and living God. Having entered death, this is the place where elements of God have gone missing from us, which we needed to remain physically alive.

A physical bruise takes time to heal, an emotional one even longer, but we have been spiritually cut off to where our bloodline has ended in death to our flesh. Now, this is something that only God can heal through the promise of His Messiah by making a New Covenant with us through His regenerative blood that lives. He has planned this out to restore our bloodline to where we join Him back upon entering into His circle of perpetual life. Now, we may return from out of the speed of darkness that has blurred our vision to being one again with God. For when slowing down to stillness, we join Him in the light of His pure love.

Eternal growth happens by starting out within God's seed of mercy as we are called through His Holy Spirit to look to the Messiah continually. We press in and persevere, passing through friction and heat until finally, fire sparks forth into the light of the person who is all truth. Once guided into the circle where The Son of God embraces His Father in the company of Holy angels of light by His pure bond of love, all who enter no longer find themselves alone. We are now citizens of heaven.

We, by faith, rejoin His circle of life. Our trials in the breadth which had us passing through the realm of time's darkness has given way, revealing what was hidden to prevent us from the light of loving truth. We can now understand His kingdom, for connecting with God's vine by grace His mercy has taken root.

Shooting upward with Him by being firmly planted in His shalom stillness through His seed of faith, we all have been birthed by God's living blood. Piercing the depths and heights of the wave of time, all has been opened for us to enter into a grace that leads to our Lord's light, over and over again by mercy.

Everything is perpetually established through the blood of Christ Messiah who allows us to be made whole by knowing Him in the purity of His holiness, which is also gradually revealed to us again by mercy. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that none should perish. For Christ did not come into this world to condemn it, but that all may have everlasting life with Him."

With peace for perspective, I can see what I am allowing in my life or not. Is something from my past pattern of doing things, surfacing into my present moment with God going to rob me of growing into a mature relationship with him in the future? "To the pure, all things are pure, and to the impure, all things are impure." In this way, we do not enter into judgment while being transformed as relying solely on God; our eyes are continually on Jesus Christ and not others.

Lord Jesus, I ask that in whatever I do, You guide me to see You in it. I further ask that if my focus is off, you transform the essence of my being, not to be conformed to this world. Transform me into the likeness of your image by the renewing of my mind that I may enter the light of Your love even more.

I have slowed down, which causes me to know with deeper understanding what the sound of God's voice is calling me to do, "I am the vine, you are the branches, unless you abide in me and I in you, you can do nothing." I pause to look and vision comes. "If any man loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him." So, "Be separate, come out from among them and touch not the unclean thing," as only a true branch may remain joined to His vine. For all are called to be
